Patron: (GMT-5)	Qwidget: can anyone talk from ssss college
Librarian: (GMT-5)	Note: Patron's screen name: Library Patron
Librarian: (GMT-5)	Librarian 'XXX' has joined the session.
Librarian: (GMT-5)	I'm xxx a librarian at xxx, there are no ssss librarians available right now - can I be of assistance?
Patron: (GMT-5)	Well i have a child development class and i am on the library website for sss and i need to find professional articles on child development and i can not figure it out
Librarian: -5)	let me take a look at SSS website and see where I'd suggest you look
Librarian: (GMT-5)	From the SSS library website - / I'm going to click on the link to the left - Find Articles
Librarian: (GMT-5)	In the middle of the page you should see - Research Databases By Subject - click on the research databases by subject
Patron: (GMT-5)	ok.
Librarian: (GMT-5)	This page will give you list of databases by subject - go down to the Education databases
Librarian: (GMT-5)	I would suggest starting in the ERIC via OCLC FirstSearch database
Librarian: (GMT-5)	You might also have some luck in the Expanded Academic ASAP database
Librarian: (GMT-5)	If you have no luck in these databases another possibility for child development may be a psychology database - a good one here is the Social Sciences database - PsychARTICLES
Librarian: (GMT-5)	Does this give you a good starting point for finding your articles?
Librarian: (GMT-5)	I'm xxx a librarian at xxx, I am working as part of a cooperative online reference service. I'm reading your question and will be ready to help you in a moment.
Patron:	Patron is no longer connected.

Librarian: (GMT-5)	Librarian ended chat session.
